“ My amazing Grandma Lina knew what we needed before we did. I remember she mailed me masa for flour tortillas that was already prepared. I put it away and thought it was not necessary. I was in law school at Miami at the time. Several months later, my boss missed payroll and I had no cash all weekend. No money for food. I had rice and that masa. So all weekend, I ate rice and flour tortillas and had nourishment because my grandma sent me that masa. I did not even have five bucks in my pocket, but I had food. It was not steak, it was not fancy, but I was not hungry. I will love and miss her always. I have her birthday songs on my phone from the last couple years. Love you buela!!!
