“ Debbie and Donna it is with a heavy heart that I send my condolences today to the both of you. I had the pleasure of meeting your father thirty years ago. He belonged to the OFWW Club "Old Farts with watches". This was the retired Exxon crew that came to The Store everyday to have their coffee, discuss old times and the events of the day. Your father of all the years I've known him is the only one who had people always coming in the store looking for him from all over the country. From very young to the senior citizens. That is a gift that not everyone has the pleasure of acquiring in their lifetime. Once a couple came in to see him. They had their very own plane. They offered me a plane ride. However, I was working and couldn't talk my boss into letting me go. He probably thought I would not return. LOL. Your father asked me everyday if I still loved him. I would always reply with my thumb and index finger about a quarter of an inch. With in the last month. He told me, "Well I see it hasn't grown much". I will tell you girls today with my arms wide open, I love and will miss the the character of a man I had the pleasure of meeting, your father. My he Rest In Peace.

Rose Lynn
Your friend.

“ The Baker family is saddened to hear of Mr. Dugger's passing. It was always great to run into him around town. He was a big jokester, and so are we. I would always leave an encounter with him happy. He always made us laugh. He will be missed! I think all of Jourdanton will miss him. Hugs and prayers for his family.

“ Dugger lived across the street from my mom. He was always full of jokes and stories. He was such a hoot! We will miss seeing him. We will also miss running into him at Chili Bandera and watching him cut up with the girls there. Rest in peace Dugger. May God bless the family with peace, understanding and love. Sincerely, Wanda Marley and Novella Hancock

“ So sorry for your loss Donna and Jennifer. Don't remember how we met, I think in George West because he knew my sister too. I always like your Dad. He was the same age as my husband.

“ Mr. Duggar was one of my favorite customers when I worked at the bank. I enjoyed speaking with him and listening to his stories and even him giving me a hard time (because I gave him one right back). We shared many laughs and even many years after ai hadn't worked there anymore, he would see me and my children in the grocery store and stop and give us a good laugh for the day. He will be missed.

“ Dugger was one of a kind. I met him through work at Farm Bureau. I told him I'd adopted him as a grandfather, so he would come to check in with his granddaughter. He was so full of life and loved to give people a hard time. Always ready to share a story or a joke. We would play the lottery together and had plans on how we'd spend our winnings. He will be missed.
