“ Debra was my beautiful little sister. She was my friend. She could also be a pest but no matter what I loved her then and now. I remember when we were little and our dad told me to go get a screwdriver out of his big rig. Debra decided she was going to get it and the race was on. We both grabbed the screwdriver and as she pulled back on it I let go and she landed up with a lifetime scar near her eye that she wouldn't let me forget about. Her age was 56 not 60 as stated in her obituary.
