“Gloria was such a sweet woman that quietly sat by and observed. Endured so many things she should not have had too....i know that when she had enough you better stand back because she was coming through! I remember one particular incident (won't mention any names) one visitor kept parking their bicycle on the front porch right in the middle of Gloria's walk way and she had asked them to move their bike 2 different times on this particular day but it was never moved. Night fall came and there still in her walkway sat the bike....well that was it, she had it! She calmly walked into her bed room and fetched her scissors, calmly walked back out and made sure nobody was around....she calmly bent down took her scissors and SNIP, CUT one of the lines coming from the bike, she had no clue what the line went to....it happened to be the brake line! Scissors back in pocket she returned back to her room. Well it just so happened that Kris Neal had cameras on the porch that night. He got Chula and showed her what grandma had just done and they both burst out laughing. Chula went and told Gloria that it had been recorded and she got all embarrassed that Chula and Kris had discovered her action. I clapped and said way to go Gloria! Bicycle was never parked there again. Gloria you were loved and you will be missed, sweet lady! With love from Susan
