“ when i met Kay , she had finished raising her children and was done working at the refinery. i, however, had just started my family though we were only 5 years apart in age. she was at my house everyday and my girls and i grew very fond of her. she was there for every birthday,Easter egg hunt and Halloween party. my youngest is 27 and when Kay and i met , allisan was 6 months old. We saw less of her when Kayla was born and her family needed her. Kay was crazy about her kids and her large family. And knowing Kelli and George is proof to me that she did an excellent job as a single parent. Kay had recently moved right down the street from me,again.we got to spend more time together again. i am so grateful for that time now! I already miss her terribly!
